Photon Energy to Roll Out 4.6 MWp Solar Projects for ALDI

- Photon Energy will install solar power at 30 of the retailer's stores and a distribution centre in NSW and Queensland, Australia
- Photon Energy Engineering Australia will design, install and commission the projects as well as provide comprehensive monitoring and O&M services
- The rooftop solution is expected to annually produce more than 6.3 GWh of electricity

Amsterdam – 22 January 2019 – Photon Energy Group (WSE: PEN, the 'Group') announces that its subsidiary Photon Energy Engineering Australia will roll out 4.6 MWp solar projects across 30 stores and a distribution centre of the supermarket chain ALDI in New South Wales and Queensland.

“Photon Energy is very proud to be cooperating with ALDI to transform its stores into solar power generators capable of providing a large proportion of their daytime electricity consumption,” said Photon Energy’s Managing Director, Mr Michael Gartner.

Combined, the 31 installations are designed to generate more than 6.3 GWh of clean energy every year.

“Photon Energy will also provide state-of-the-art monitoring as well as operation and maintenance services to ensure the systems are highly reliable with the maximum positive impact for ALDI,” added Mr Gartner.
